PROBE OF TEXANS' BATTLE ON

CHARGE ENNIS MAN IN KNIFE SLAYING OF LOCAL RESIDENT

W. J. SHOCKEY FOUND STABBED TO DEATH; FUNERAL RITES TUESDAY

J. C. LaRue, 37, of Ennis, was placed in the Navarro county jail shortly after noon Monday on a murder complaint in connection with the knife slaying of his father-in-law, W. J. Shockey, 71, of 844 South Fourteenth, Corsicana, here early Sunday morning.

The defendant was arrested at his home in Ennis Monday morning by Sheriff Cap Curington and J. C. Roe, county attorney.

When taken before Judge A. E. Foster, justice of the peace, before whom the formal murder complaint had been filed earlier in the day, LaRue plead not guilty and waived examining trial. Bond in the sum of $2,500 was set by Judge Foster to await the action of the grand jury. A bond was secured by relatives who planned to make the bond during the afternoon for LaRue's release from custody.

Goes to Grand Jury.

County Attorney Roe stated Monday afternoon that the January term grand jury would be recalled into session Wednesday morning to investigate the case.

Shockey was found dead at 7 a. m. Sunday on the Southern Pacific Lines right-of-way near the Twelfth street crossing, according to Sheriff Cap Curington, who said that he had been stabbed once in the heart and had sustained abrasions on the head and face. The sheriff said that the victim had been seen alive about 5 a. m. Sunday and was returning from a vist to the home of a son, E. E. Shockey, 428 South Twelfth street, at the time he was fatally injured. The body was discovered by a Southern Pacific Lines train crew and city officers were notified.

The formal complaint was signed by Sheriff Curington.

Inquest Sunday.

Judge Foster viewed the body and conducted an inquest Sunday and returned a coroner's verdict of "Death resulted from a knife wound inflicted by unknown parties." Later investigations by county, city and railroad officers resulted in the charge being filed.

A three-inch open blade knife, property of the dead man, was found near the body by City Officers Claude Patterson and C. S. Powell. The purse of Shockey contained $18.31, and his wrist watch was still on his left wrist, officers said, indicating that robbery was not the motive of the attack, since the effects in his clothing had not been removed.

Funeral services for Shockey will be held from the Church of

Krug Takes Office As Interior Boss; Keeps Ickes' Aide

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP)—Julius A. Krug took office today as secretary of the interior, and immediately announced that Oscar L. Chapman would be nominated undersecretary.

Chapman, a 49-year old Coloradoan who has served as acting secretary since the resignation of Harold L. Ickes, has been an assistant secretary almost 13 years.

Krug took the oath before a crowd which filled the department's big auditorium.

In a speech which followed, the 38-year old secretary, last chairman of the War Production Board said that during his administration "We'll be guided scrupulously by the will of the people as expressed through congress."

"I admit that sometimes my own personal views will differ, and I shall not hesitate to state and urge them," Krug said. "But where they are not supported in congress they will not affect the activities of the department."

COAL OPERATORS' SPOKESMAN MAKES COUNTER DEMANDS

PROPOSES OVERTIME START AFTER 40 HOURS —NOT THIRTY-FIVE

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Charles O'Neill, bituminous coal operators' spokesman, today proposed that overtime pay in the industry begin after 40 hours of work a week, instead of the present 35 hours.

O'Neill also demanded a guarantee from John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers against wildcat, or unauthorized strikes.

He said the operators "in order to establish stable conditions in the industry, to eliminate wildcat strikes and to state their position," proposed these four points:

Vacation Pay Issue.

"1. Suitable guarantee by the international union against wildcat strikes and slowdowns in production.

"2. A redefinition of qualifications for vacation pay.

"3. The elimination of pay for lunch periods.

"4. Substitution of eight hours for seven hours and 40 hours for 35 hours, at the point at which overtime payment begins, to conform with the standard work day and week established by federal legislation."

COTTON MARGIN HIKE MAY IGNITE BOWLES, ANDERSON FRICTION

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—A mvoe by Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles to check rising cotton clothing prices may bring to the explosive point long-smouldering friction between Bowles and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Regardless of whether it does, Anderson appeared today to be on a hot spot as the result of Bowles' order instructing OPA to require larger down payments for cotton to be delivered later.

The orderd is designed to curb cotton speculation, which Bowles contends has driven up prices for raw cotton and for cotton clothing. OPA is conferring on details of the measure today with cotton exchange officials, who declined to hike margin requirements voluntarily.

BERNARD M. BARUCH

Baruch Nominated U. S. Member Of Atom Commission

WASHINGTON, March 16—(AP)—President Truman is nominating Bernard M. Baruch as United States representative on the United Nations atomic energy commission.

White House press secretary Charles G. Ross said the nomination of the elderly financier and presidential adviser will go to the Senate tomorrow.

Baruch, 75, one of the nation's elder statesmen, was chairman of the war industries board during the first World War. The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt called upon him frequently during the last war for advice and for special missions.

One of his best known services in World War II involved a solution of the rubber crisis.

In selecting Baruch, President Truman followed the lead of Great Britain who appointed a non-scientist, Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent undersecretary for foreign affairs.

The atomic energy commission was created at the last London meeting of the United Nations. It will consist of one representative from each of the 11 ocuntries making up the UNO Security Council, plus a representative of Canada.

Failure To Feed Europe Said New War Invitation

By ALEX SINGLETON

ATLANTIC CITY, March 18.—(AP)—Director General Herbert Lehman of UNRRA said today that failure to furnish relief for the world's hungry millions "can well sow the seeds of further armed conflict."

In an address prepared for UNRRA's fourth council session, the retiring chief of history's greatest mission of mercy said that "We have demonstrated that the men and women of many nations can work together in harmony for the common good of mankind."

Lehman told the delegates from 47 nations that UNRRA had accomplished the following:

7,000,000 Tons Shipped

1. By the end of March more than 7,000,000 tons of supplies will have been shippd "and the scale of our operations is increasing daily."

2. Since the first of September, approximately 723,000 displaced persons have been repatriated with the help of military authorities.

SPEAKER IS HOPEFUL HOUSE WILL EXTEND SELECTIVE SERVICE

COMPROMISE MAY LET DRAFT LIVE ON FOR ADDITIONAL SIX WEEKS

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) said today he is hopeful of house passage of legislation extending the draft act beyond the May 15 expiration date.

Leaving a conference with President Truman, Rayburn told reporters "I am not very discouraged" over the prospects.

He said the president discussed selective service, appropriations and atomic energy legislation with his congressional "Big Four" at their regular Monday meeting.

The other members of the quartet are Senate Majority Leader Barkley (Ky), Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), President Pro Tempore of the Senate and House Majority Leader McCormack.

The idea of a six-week compromise extension caught the fancy of some senators today as pressure grew for keeping the draft alive.

Selective Service now is due to expire May 15. The six-week period would carry it to July 1.

With the senate military committee set for a full dress review of the subject tomorrow, there were these developments:

1. Secretary of State Byrnes added his pleas to those of President Truman and top army officers when he told a New York audience Saturday night that this country needs military strength to support the principles of the United Nations. He said "the situation will become critical" unless the draft is extended.

2. Members of the house military committee disclosed secret testimony of war department officials that the army might fall to only 570,000 men by July 1, 1947, if it has to rely solely on voluntary enlistments after May 15. That is half a million men below the army's goal.

3. Twenty-six house members joined in sponsoring a resolution calling for a special study of the MOSCOW, March 18.—(AP)—The Communist party newspaper Pravda, only morning newspaper published in Moscow Monday, today reflected none of the tenseness shown in other capitals of the world concerning the present international situation.

Pravda's main editorial was headed "Stalin Plan Will Be Put Into Effect," and was an optimistic commentary predicting success of the generalissimo's new industrial program designed to boost production to record high levels.

Most of the inside pages of the six-page issue were devoted to discussions among delegates to the supreme Soviet on the new five year plan, which calls for research on development of atomic power and for industrial production by 1950 of one and a half times the pre-war level.

The situation in Iran was conspicuously absent from columns devoted to the principal news.

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—With a single week remaining until UNO's Security Council meets, the Iranian crisis neared the breaking point today—and Russian-American relations tensed perceptibly.

A steady stream of reports of new difficulties and sensational incidents in the strife-ridden Middle Eastern country brought these latest developments:

1. The American vice consul at Tabriz, Robert Rossow, was detained half an hour at a Red army post last Friday. This was three days after the United States told the world that instead of pulling out of Iran Soviet forces were moving through Tabriz deeper into that country. The Russians expressed regret, and the state department here said it attaches no significance to the incident.

FULL INVESTIGATION OF 36TH DIVISION'S RAPIDO FIGHT URGED

ARMY "CASTE SYSTEM" SCORED BEFORE HOUSE MILITARY COMMITTEE

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON, March 18—(AP)—Condemning what he called the Army "caste system," Col. Miller Ainsworth, Luling, Tex., president of the 36th Division Association, asked the House military committee today to make a thorough investigation of the Rapido river battle in Italy.

Singling out Gen. Mark W. Clark, who had ordered the 36th into that ill-fated operation, Ainsworth declared the inquiry should be held to determine whether the General had "exercised sound judgment," as stated in a recent war department report.

"Real Issues" Hidden

"The war department by its answers to this proposed investigation has glossed over the real issues and to the citizen soldier, the answer is a reflection of their intelligence," he testified before the committee.

A large number of spectators, as well as the committee, listened to his statement. A previous plan to hold a closed hearing was reversed.

Ainsworth declared that in his "humble estimation" the Rapido attack order "violated two basic rules" of good military strategy, since it was a diversionary operation to relieve pressure from the Anzio beachhead landings.

Losses Said Excessive

In the first place it should have "had some chance to succeed," he said, and secondly it should have been conducted to net a "minimum amount of losses."

He said the casualty figures shown in the war department report were misleading in that they showed a loss of only 155 men killed, while the missing in action was approximately 1,000 and the killed, wounded, missin in action and captured totaled nearly 3,000.

"The figures don't represent the true facts," he charged. "Now that two years have gone by some one ought to be getting those figures up to date."

While Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker, who commanded the 36th at Rapido, sat near at hand, Ainsworth told the committee that the "very serious accusations" made against Gen. Clark as the over-all commander of American forces in Italy at the time could not be taken lightly.

Mark Clark Scored

"If Mark Clark is not guilty of what we have accused him, then in fairness to the man himself, who has had a lot of adverse pub-

20 RAILROADS CHARGED WITH FIXING RATES AGAINST SOUTH

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Railroads were charged by the State of Georgia today in a case before the supreme court with "unlawfully and illegally combining and conspiring to fix, dominate and control" freight rates through "economic coercion."

The accusation was made in opening the state's suit charging railways have violated anti-trust laws and discriminated against the south in fixing freight rates.

Twenty railroads are defendants, and the case is being heard by Lloyd K. Garrison, former chief of War Manpower Commission, who was named a special master by the supreme court.

The court is asked to break up the industry's rate-making bureaus and associations, which the state charges "create cartelized private rate-making machinery, deriving its strength from the Association of American Railroads."

RAILROAD FACT-FINDING BOARD STUDYING MANY BIG ISSUES IN TRY TO AVERT NATIONAL STRIKE

By JAMES R. BACON

CHICAGO, March 18—(AP)—Proposals of the Railroad Brotherhoods for changes in 45 complex working rules are being considered by an emergency fact-finding board.

The Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen and Locomotive Engineers contend the revisions would raise salaries, improve working conditions and adjust "inequities" in the wage structure.

But the railroads say the rule changes asked by the Brotherhoods would pile two and one-half billion dollars or more on top their annual costs.

Wage Demand Heard

The railroads estimated that a basic wage increase, demanded as one of the rules changes asked by the Brotherhoods, would cost $920,000,000 with an additional $1,500,000,000 cost if the other 44 proposed changes are granted.

Faced with the union's threat to strike in support of their demands, the railroads offered 29 counter-proposals.

The trainmen also are presenting rule revision demands of the dining car stewards and yardmasters. The railroads argue that the steward's proposals would result in tripling present pay of these employes, and that the yardmasters—"representatives of management—would be reduced to the status of call boys."

Three Unions Arbitrate

Originally, five operating Brotherhoods had submitted rule changes demands along with requests for basic wage increases but three of the unions agreed to defer rules revision. These three, with 15-non-operating groups, agreed to binding arbitration of their basic wage increase dispute with 180 class one carriers.

But the trainmen and engineers held that the rule changes should be arbitrated along with the wage increase matter and proceeded to call a strike. The strike, set for March 11, was postponed when

GE WORKERS BACK ON JOB; GM UNIONS ARE STILL OUT ON STRIKE

(By The Associated Press.)

As General Electric employes went back to the job of building refrigerators and other consumer goods today, local issues stood in the way of the return of General Motors workers in about a third of the GM plants.

Announcing its 62-day strike had ended, the CIO United Electrical Workers Union said last night its 100,000 members would start returning to General Electric plants in 16 states today.

Settlement of the GE dispute was on the basis of an 18 1-2 cents hourly wage increase, the same raise accepted overwhelmingly by 30 of 31 CIO United Auto Workers units which approved a national settlement with General Motors Corp. The lone dissenter among 31 reporting was a local at Baltimore, Md., which turned thumbs down on the settlement.

GM Locals Still Out

However, 10 of the locals voting decided not to enter GM plants until local differeneces have been settled. General Motors has indicated it would begin calling back to work this week employes from those locals which have approved the national settlement.

Besides the General Electric Workers, today's back-to-work movement included 50,000 made idle for 20 weeks by a strike of machinists in San Francisco; 14,000 employes of Timkin Roller Bearing Co. in Ohio, and 3,300 employes of the Oliver Corporation, equipment concern with plants in South Bend, Ind., and Charles City, Ia.

NAZI ATTACK NEVER PLANNED ON AMERICA, GOERING CLAIMS

By NOLAND NORGAARD

NUERNBERG, Germany, March 18.—(AP)—Hermann Goering testified before the international military tribunal today that the Nazis never considered any offensive action against the Western hemisphere.

The number one defendant at the war crimes trial here, taking the witness stand in his own defense for the fifth day, also asserted that Nazi efforts to make an economic penetration in South America were unavailing in the face of competition by the United States and Britain.

"Threatening the American continent was never spoken of," Goering declared, adding:

Even Victory Limited.

"Even if Germany had completely dominated Europe her small fleet and lack of bombers would have forbade any aggressive action against the United States."

HOPE HELD FOR VIENNA TO BE GAY VACATION SPOT AGAIN FOR TOURISTS OUT TO SEE EUROPE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

VIENNA, March 18—(AP)—Dr. Karl Renner, president of the storm-tossed little Republic, tells me he believes that "the great hope for Austria is Vienna itself."

"Vienna," says the Doctor, "is destined to be the international center of culture. Vienna has so many treasures of old culture that it will be forever a point for sightseers. It is a base for air transport. If you want to see Europe in three days, come to Vienna, all is here.

From this it will be clear that the silver-haired chief of state, with his benign countenance and twinkling eyes, is by way of being a smooth salesman.

As a matter of fact I was glad Dr. Renner raised this subject, because it impelled Mrs. Mack and me to re-examine the capital with an expert guide to make a fresh assay of the damage sustained in the siege towards the close of the war.

Vienna is heavily damaged, but when we have emphasized that point it can be added that relatively speaking she came through her ordeal pretty well. As compared with Berlin, for example, the Austrian capital is in good shape. Berlin is just a shell of its once proud self and must be rebuilt from the ground up—a task of many, many years—but Vienna's damage can be repaired in many important instances.

You get encouragement for that idea if you make your way around the Ringstrasse, famous as a promenade in days of peace. Along that boulevard stand many of Vienna's noted buildings and it's surprising what a large number have survived the bombardment, in whole or in part.

Vienna's visions of tourists are by no means a mirage, but she has many problems to solve besides the lack of bricks and mortar before those visions can come fully true. Her most pressing difficulty

FRENCH DOCTOR GOES ON TRIAL AS MODERN 'BLUEBEARD' MONDAY

PARIS, March 18.—(AP)—Black-bearded Dr. Marcel Petiot, charged with murdering perhaps as many as 63 persons, goes on trial in a Paris court today.

The 55-year-old beetle-browed little physician is charged with luring his alleged victims to his home, a large house behind a 20-foot wall, with promises of helping them to escape from Nazi-occupied France in return for a fee.

A miscellany of human remains, including partially burned limbs and bodies contorted in a lime pit, were found by police summoned two years ago in the home by neighbors, who complained of thick, malodorous smoke. The smoke was found to be coming from a white-hot furnace in which human remains were later discovered.

Thirty-nine valises containing 97 petticoats, 57 pairs of socks, 97 shirts and other clothes were found at another house.

The state also has charged Petiot with dismembering the bodies of some victims and leaving the packaged remains in the Bois De Boulogne or dropping them into the Seine river. Twenty-seven victims have been identified—mostly Jews who, the state says, paid large sums because they thought they would be helped to escape from the Nazis.

Returning to States.

YOKOHAMA, March 18.—(AP)—Some 2,000 Eighth Army personnel with 41 points have been ordered to report Thursday to the replacement depot for shipment to the United States. Some will sail aboard the Marine Robin, leaving about March 24.

UNO Turning College Into Peace Plant

By ARLENE WOLF
AP Newsfeatures Writer.

NEW YORK—The Bronx division of Hunter College, where the UNO Security Council is starting the machinery of international peace rolling this week, was a training ground for war until recently.

Three years ago, coats and skirts of Navy blue replaced the multi-colored wear of the city college's own students as the Navy turned the 41 acre site into a training ground for 85,000 Waves, Marines and Spars. Before that, a total of 20,000 girls had used the Jerome Park reservoir campus for their educational stamping ground.

Davis Hall, one of two modern Gothic buildings used by both the college and the Navy for instruction and office space, has 120 classrooms for the UNO to work in, as well as a small cafeteria. In addition, the UNO will use a larger 2,000 person cafeteria in the spacious student hall, and the million-dollar, three-story physical education buildng where Hunter students worked out in maroon and green gym rompers. Present plans are for the UNO to use the buildings until May 15.

PEACEMAKERS get this gymnasium on campus where 85,000 Waves, Marines and Spars were trained during war.

The three-story gymnasium building has four small gyms and one huge gym that can seat 1,000 when the Security Council meets. There are 80 showers in the basement, lockers, hair-driers, a 75-foot swimming pool, offices, dressing rooms and even laundry equipment.

The Navy vacated the premises early in February and at present has just a small complement to take care of the few pieces of Navy equipment still on the site.

When the advance secretariat party of the UNO toured the gym to check on proper accommodations fo the Security Council, the Navy was moving out the last of its property. But a few peculiarly Navy touches remained for the secretariat to see—the shore patrol at the entrance gate, a ship's bell outside the building, and little touches like the "How's your weight mate?" scattered on placards

A Long Subway Ride.

The UNO people, set down at LaGuardia Field on a Monday, found themselves whisked up to the Bronx the very next day, and contemplated a 45-minute subway ride up from midtown hotel rooms each day of the six-week sessions in March and April. The Navy had commandeered surrounding apartments for its personnel, but the buildings were turned back to private rental before the UNO settled its temporary housing problem at Hunter.

If spring is early this year, the 100-odd members of the council (from the U. S., Great Britain, Russia, China, France, Australia, Brazil, Egypt, Mexico, The Neth-

THE USE OF POWER

In connection with Winston Churchill's notable address at Fulton, Mo., President Truman well said that "the world is either headed for destruction or for the greatest age of progress in human history." Perhaps to many people in this and other countries it seems "a toss-up" whether it will be glory or destruction. There is in existence now the means of destroying the civilized world, with all its marvelous accumulations developed through the ages. There are also the means of preserving and using them for such great and wise purposes as the world so far has hardly imagined. And which shall it be?

There is no doubt of how the American people will choose, if the choice remains free and is not dictated by excessive need of resisting foreign aggression. Our way is the way of culture, progress and humanity, of tolerance and friendship with all nations, of the use of force only under compulsion and in self-defense. And it is our aim to persuade all doubtful human groups to the same humane purpose, rather than to follow the ancient rule that "they should take who have the power, and they should keen who can."

A LAST WAR

Uncle Sam asks Russia to move out of Iran and back to her own property. The Russians have been spreading themselves around rather largely in that area lately, presumably with a view of annexing it, or at least taking practical control. It would give them opportunity for further thrusts toward India and the Far East in general. And it would create new barriers between the East and West, with greater opportunities for Stalin and his pliant Russian followers to pursue their quest for world domination.

It is doubtful whether Stalin will take any orders from Uncle Sam, with regard to such territorial enlargement. Sooner or later an irrisistible force may meet an immovable body. And what then?

Americans want no war and no territory, nothing but to live peaceably in their own country and cooperate freely with the rest of the world. Some observers wonder more and more whether the ambitious Russian leades will remain content to play a simlar part in world history. If not, our nation might be obliged, against all its instincts and desires, to fight one last, great war for peace.

But such a war is unnecessary if wisdom guides diplomacy.

HOUSES

The housing problem continues to absorb the interest of the American public, and is also attracting political interest at Washington. One of the latest converts to this movement is Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who knows how to stir up a worthy cause.

Certainly there is good reason for activity along this line. If there was ever justification for national interest in public production of homes on a big scale, this is the time. The problem is so big that private builders are unable to do justice to it, and the government naturally steps in to help. It is a bit late, but welcome nevertheless.

Naturally there is keen interest in the types of homes to be built, and the cost, financial terms, and other problems. All these things will be clarified, as the movement gets under way. It should prove to be one of the most interesting developments of this country in many years.

NEW CARS

The factories are building automobiles again, slowly now, but destined in a few months to pour from the assembly lines in vast and ever growing numbers. Naturally enough, hundreds of thousands of men, women and children are eagerly awaiting their turn for a new car. It is right that they should. It might almost be said that a new car every four or five years is a part of the American Bill of Rights; and after waiting twice that long, on the average, the claim is doubly strong.

But with level headed men women, and even some of the boys, there is developing a sense of uneasiness as the toll of motor accidents begins to mount. When there are so many people killed or injured as there have been lately, thousands ask with worried brows what it will be like when summer comes and the cars multiply. There will be needed, perhaps, more self-control than ever before. And this may be a good time to start training those who are capable of self-control. As for others, the problem is still more serious.

DELAYED MARRIAGES

Here is something which should reassure many Americans whose entanglement with the war and its problems has interfered with their normal plans for marriage. At a meeting of the American Sociological Socity, in a paper delivered by Prof. Judson T. Landis of Michigan State College, the speaker analyzed a survey of 409 couples, who had been married for an average of 20 years, as follows:

Couples whose marriage has been delayed by the war, he says, need not feel that their increased age has necessarily raised a barrier to a happy union.

"Persons who were 30 years or older when they married succeeded in making marital adjustments sooner in all relations—sex, spending family income, social activities, in-law relationships, religious activities and mutual friends—better than those who married younger. Those who married under 20 had the most difficulties, the men especially."

There may not have been so much mystery, after all, about the apparent loss of that Russian loan-note. It might have been just another case of sober second thought on the part of over-ready lenders.

Wedgies for men were displayed the other day in Boston. This is bad news for lovers of scenery. Women's toes and heels are no great addition to the landscape, and men's are liable to be worse.

American business seems to be confused and in a low state of mind, but in the words of the Scripture, "these things also shall pass away."

LETTER VIII

Beloved, days go slowly by,
But busy with my tasks am I,
And busy with my double share
Of morning, noon and evening care,
Time was I often heard you say:
"What will you do when I'm away?
The birthdays and the dates they fall!
Who will remind you of them all?"

Beloved, 'twas a joy to find
The record of your heart and mind—
The little book you used to keep
Beneath your linens, hidden deep.
And in your careful writing penned
The name and street of every friend,
The number and the date, that none
Might be frogotten were you gone.

Beloved, there it all appears—
The glory of those golden years!
The many things you used to do
To cheer the lives of those you knew,
As if you feared, without a list,
There might be one who would be missed.
We turn its pages day by day
And think of you not far away.

The immediate Soviet objective would be to get official Iranian authority for the presence of Red army troops in Iran.

4. The tenor of American-Russian relations was set meanwhile by Secretary of State Byrnes with his assurance on the one hand that the American government does not intend to enter into a military alliance with Britain and his insistence on the other that the United States must act immediately to maintain and strengthen its armed forces.

Diplomatic authorities saw a direct link between this and the Iranian crisis.

As American officials view the situation, if UNO's pledges of security for all nations mean anything at all they mean that Russia has no right to maintain an army in Iran beyond its agreements with the Iranian government.

is the grave scarcity of food. Many people in Austria are hungry.

This is the second time in a quarter century that Austria has learned the hard way what war means to countries which aren't self-sufficient.

Now the scourge of privation is sweeping Austria again and it is a situation which must be met by importation of foodstuffs.

Grim days are ahead between now and the new harvest.

Still, when Austria has surmounted that danger there's no reason why Dr. Renner's tourist dream should not come true. Austria can achieve this dream if she isn't caught in the whirlpool of international politics growing out of realignment of the balance of power in Europe.

Elimination Of Fire Hazards Is Urged By Chief

An alarming increase in the number of fires in recent months was cited Monday by Fire Chief H. P. Bivins in urging all residents of Corsicana to join in the current spring clean-up campaign to eliminate hazards that breed fires.

It is the cheapest and most effective protection of homes and buildings possible, he declared, because a fire that never starts is harmless.

In winter months, when heating plants are in constant use, the fire curve reaches its peak, Chief Bivins pointed out. The next most dangerous period is in the spring when high winds, limited humidity, and dry flammable wooden roofs may combine to whip a small fire originating in a pile of rubbish into a disastrous conflagration.

"A sharp rise in the fire curve since last November should serve as the most compelling reason possible why every resident of Corsicana should join in the clean-up drive to put his house in order," Chief Bivins said. "I can't urge a sense of individual responsibility too strongly. We, at the city fire department, stand ready to rush to your aid when a fire breaks out, but we can't poke around in every home preventing fires by eliminating the hazards that breed them."

The fire chief made the following recommendations:

Accumulated rubbish, such as old magazines, broken pieces of furniture, cleaning rags and other household remnants that clutter up the attic closets, basement and garage, should be cleaned out.

Check the wiring circuit for loose connections; repair electrical appliances and replace frayed cords.

Don't neglect the outside of the house. Clear the premises of leaves and debris which might become easy prey of a stray spark. Check the roof for leaks and if it needs repairing, re-roof with fire-retardant materials.

FIVE NEW MEMBERS JOIN MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH

There were five additions to the Missionary Baptist Church Sunday, four by letter and one by baptism, as another high day was reached. Nine new members were enrolled in the Bible School bringing the total to 244. It was pointed out that only sixty-six were to be gained in the next two weeks to reach the goal of three hundred by April 1. A renewed effort will be made to reach this number by next Sunday.

The pastor, Rev. A. J. Kirkland, preached to a well filled auditorium at both services Sunday, and there were additions at both services. In the morning sermon the pastor showed from the scriptures that Christ was God manifested in the flesh, that he existed in eternity, that he was the Creator and that he came to earth in a specially prepared body to be man's sin offering. In the evening service the pastor brought two Bible examples of salvation, showing how Jesus saved people upon the simple terms of faith in him.

IRAN

could neither confirm nor deny reports that Premier Ahmed Qavam Es Saltaneh is at present negotiating with the Russians in Tehran. He said it was "highly improbable" in view of an Iranian law prohibiting oil talks until foreign troops were evacuated.

The spokesman added, however, that since parliamnt has been dissolved, Qavam is the virtual ruler of the country, but declared the premier would have to answer to the new parliament when it is elected.

Embassy officials said there were no Iranian objections to Russia having oil concessions in northern Iran.

Both the British and Americans are understood to hold the view that they should be given an opportunity to negotiate oil concessions on an equal basis with Russia or any other power.

When the Iranian government approved the law prohibiting negotiations until after the war, the American government asked Iran to notify the state department on resumption of oil concession talks to insure that U. S. oil interests would have equitable treatment.

One of the Russian contentitons is that since Britain holds oil concessions in Southern Iran, the Soviet should be allowed to also.

The British are understood to have no objection to Russia being given concessions, but support the Iranian view that Soviet troops first should leave the country.

PRIMARY TEACHERS CLASSES MARCH 25 BEGIN PRE-SCHOOL

Primary teachers in the Corsicana school system, beginning March 25, will conduct classes for children who have not previously attended school, but whose parents intend to have them enroll in the school at the opening of the new school year next September, W. H. Norwood, superintendent of schools, announced Saturday.

The purpose of the classes is to facilitate the adjustment of those beginning children when they start attending school next fall. All mothers with children who will become six years old on or before next September, and who will enroll in the first grade next year, are urged by Norwood to bring their children to each of these sessions.

Enrollment for the two weeks' period should be made in the elementary school district in which the family of the child resides. The service is being provided by the board of education without cost to the parents.

The introductory sessions will establish background in the minds of the children which will greatly expedite their adjustment at the opening of the 1946-47 school year.

In addition, the superintendent declared, it will give the mothers an opportunity to become acquainted with the principals, teachers, and the school environment and will enable them to receive instructions regarding the securing of birth certificates, health and physical examinations, and recommendations which should be provided for the pre-school child.

AMERICAN LEGION POST HERE URGES STATE VET BODY

The Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, American Legion, passed a resolution Thursday night at the regular meeting calling for the creation of a State Veterans Affairs Commission.

Pupils from Mrs. Jewell Walker's School of Dancing gave a recital as part of the program. The newly organized Legion band played a number of selections. Approximately twenty members of the organization played.

Plant Seed Bred for the Southwest
Bryant's Hybrid

The farmer who makes money in the Southwest doesn't plant seed developed for New England or Kansas—he plants seed that has been tried, improved, and proven for the soil and climate in which it has to grow. Scientific inbreeding, soil and climate analysis evolved a hybrid corn for Southwest soil that gives 20% to 35% greater yield than open pollinated varieties. A product of years of research.

4 VARIETIES
No. 30 The newest Hybrid. A soft yellow corn with long slender ears. Grows fast and matures early.
No. 76 Yellow dent type with large soft grains of deep color. Noted for producing more than one perfect ear per stalk.
No. 92 A soft yellow corn with long slender ears and small, elongated, flat grains. Thin, loose husk.
No. 8 Heavy ears, medium length, with large flat grains. Good husk covers tip of ear from insects and weather.

DEEP ROOTED DROUTH RESISTING STALK
A sturdy stalk with roots that spread and go down after the last ounce of moisture enables the plant to continue to grow under drouth, adverse soil and weather conditions.

HERE ARE THE RESULTS
- Bigger Yield
- Fewer Nubbins
- Earlier Maturity
- Better Grain
- Greater Resistance

MEASLES

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

Not necessarily serious in itself, measles is dangerous because of the complications it may bring.

Treatment today is much more scientific and comfortable than formerly. Now it is better understood how to lessen the danger to eyes, ears and lungs that measles often bring.

Measles is a contagious malady, and common consideration for others calls for supervision of the patient by a physician and strict observance of quarantine rules.

Of great importance in treatment is the quality of medication and disinfectants used in the sickroom. Take all prescriptions to a reliable druggist.

city in the matter, then hearings should be held, and he should be exonerated or else held guilty as we claim that he is," he added.

Declaring an investigation would "clarify the real issue" by bringing out views not contained in a report submitted by war department spokesmen," he continued:

"If this investigation is ordered, it is our firm conviction that we will get out of our congress a correction of a military system that permits elevation of officers to high commands regardless of their known ability.

Charges Discriminated

"The correction of this system will eliminate a gross discrimination of National Guard and reserve components in favor of the regular establishment and I am including the West Point Protective Association."

He added:

"If bringing true facts before a committee in congress, exposing a caste system that would do credit to a totalitarian power, a system that places its own glorification and ambition ahead of the lives of our sons—if exposing these conditions wil bring discredit to our Division and to our state, then we are in error."

Gen. Walker testified that in his opinion "poor tactical judgment was used by higher commanders" in ordering the Division to attack in the vicinity of St. Angelo.

Vets Regret Blunder

"I feel certain," he said, "that the veterans of the 36th Division have no complaint to make regarding the directive which Gen. Alexander (British commander) issued to Gen. Clark, the commander of the Fifth Army. They feel that the directive was a proper one from a strategical point of view. Their complaint is that poor judgment was used in the selection of the point of attack and in the manner in which the directive of General Alexander was applied tactically."

The manner in which the Rapido attack was to be made was discussed by Clark, a General Keyes and himself, Walker elaborated, several weeks prior to January, 1944, when the battle actually was launched.

Walker Saw Disadvantages.

"During these discussions, I pointed out to General Clark and

"Someone called and said they were being robbed here!"

Rapido river in the vicinity of General Keyes the many disadvantages that were apparent if an attack should be made across the St. Angelo," he continued.

"The Germans had prepared a defensive position on the west bank of the river strongly fortified and thoroughly organized. This would have been a most difficult position to attack successfully even if there had been no unfordable river as an obstacle along its entire front.

Frontal Attack Bad.

"Every soldier realizes that a frontal attack should not be made against a well fortified position if it is at all possible to attack the position from the flank."

He said he was "greatly surprised when I received the order to attack" across the Rapido in the St. Angelo vicinity, and that although the time allowed was not sufficient and the equipment available was not adequate, the officers and men did their best.

"They failed through no fault of their own," he said.

During the first attack, a great many of the key leaders became casualties, he said. The next day he was ordered to make a second attack. The order was given at 10 a. m. and the atack was to be made at p. m. the same day.

Leaders Were Lost.

"When one considers the disorganization due to loss of leaders, the necessity for procuring and preparing crossing equipment, the time necessary for issuing orders and instructions, it does not seem to me that good judgment was used in directing the division to make a second attack on three hours notice," he said.

A charge that the Rapido attack was pushed by "a West Point commander" who deliberately sought to destroy National Guard officers was made before the committeee by William H. Martin, of Houston, a retired Colonel who commanded the 143rd infantry regiment. He is now attached to the Texas State adjutant general's office.

Phinney Also Irked

Carl L. Phinney, Dallas lawyer, submitted a prepared statement expressing views similar to previous witnesses.

Chairman May (D-Ky) said no further testimony will be received, adding the committee will take up the matter tomorrow in executive session.

While he and other members were noncommittal, it appeared that the committee would consider the matter a closed episode and turn down the request for an investigation.

At a reunion in Brownwod, Texas, about six weeks ago, the Division Association adopted a resolution requesting a congressional investigation of the Rapido crossing. Another resolution criticized General Mark Clark.

Ainsworth told a reporter yesterday that such an investigation "is the only recourse besides the ballot that a civilian soldier has, so far as I know to see that fair play is had by all."

"Ressponsible to People"

He asserted that "Army commanders in a democracy are just as responsible to the people as politicians, and we're asking that they answer to the people for an injustice that's been done."

While one military committee member predicted in advance that "no further action will be taken" after receiving the Association's statements, Ainsworth said "I'll be here until the snow flies in the fall if necessary" to obtain an investigation.

"The fact that if they allow this investigation, maybe hundreds of others will be asked for—that is just incidental as far as I am concerned," said Ainsworth. He added it is part of a congressman's job to listen to "just complaints" from citizens.

A war department report on the Rapido operation was given to the committee after adoption of the Brownwood resolution, and some members said they believed nothing more could be done about it.

DEAR MR WORLD WAR TWO VETERAN:

It has come to our attention that a large percentage of you are not keeping the government life insurance issued while you were serving your country during the war. This insurance was issued at a bargain price as partial compensation for the great service rendered and as a protection to the loved ones of service men.

We feell enough interest in you and your future to say that if you have allowed your's to lapse you have make a big mistake. Any World War One Veteran knows from experience that it will be needed in the years to come as a protection to you and your family.

We urge you to give serious consideration to immediate reinstatement of this insurance. Delay may be dangerous for each year more of you will be ineligible for reinstatement because of physical handicaps.

Yours sincerely,

NAZIS

Western hemisphere came during questioning by Martin Horn, attorney representing Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who strove to show that the former foreign minister actually had been unable to guide Hitler in the determination of German foreign policy.

To questions on prosecution charges that the Nazis conspired to gain domination of Europe, Goering replied that "conspiracy may be variously interpreted."

"No Secret Plots."

"In the sense that it would mean men would plot secretly and in the dark about secret plans—that, of course, never took place," he said.

"In the sense that the fuehrer had comprehensive conferences and out of them decided on certain things—you can mention conspiracy only in that connection."

Apparently striving, as in preceding days on the witness stand, to shoulder as much responsibility as possible for the Nazi's policies, Goering declared that "no one else worked with the fuehrer as closely as I. No one else had the influence I had. Only the fuehrer and myself could conspire. No one else was concerned."

Oil Supply Worry.

He explained that he referred only to the period before his relations with Hitler deteriorated, in the closing days of the war

Counsel for Grand Admiral Erich Raeder drew from Goering the disclosure that in 1940, when he was greatly concerned over the possibility that a portion of Germany's oil supply in the Balkans would be cut off, he considered the establishment of secret radio stations in the vicinity of Syria, the Caucasus and Turkey to keep a close watch on developments.

"If oil supplies had been cut off, the luftwaffe would have been seriously damaged," he said.

Goering defended the Hitler dictatorship as "the only possible form for government" for the reich in 1933 and boasted:

"We demonstrated that Germany could be raised in a short time from miserable poverty to prosperity."

This assertion came when Justice Robert H. Jackson of the United States started crass examination. Goering leaned forward tensley a Jackson asked:

Only Living Big Wig

"You are perhaps aware that you are the only living human being who can expound to us the purposes of the Nazi party and the inner workings of its leadership?"

"I am perfectly clear on that subject," Goering replied, staring straight at the justice.

The bulky defendant told Jackson:

"I want to remind you that your own President Roosevelt said—I cannot give the exact words but I believe I can give the meaning—that a few countries had deserted democracy because it had produced men too weak to keep the people at work and give them bread. There is much truth in that statement. Democracy ruined Germany and only strong clear leadership could bring Germany back."

Goering relaxed to smile once when Jackson tried to cut short his exhaustive reply to a question concerning the commitment of political opponents to concentration camps. Lord Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence of Great Britain, presiding, intervened to admonish Jackson that the tribunal wanted to hear a complete answer.

RAIL STRIKE

President Truman, under the Railway Labor Act, created an emergency fact finding board to consider the joint issues of the Trainmen and Engineers.

This board now is conducting public hearings in Chicago.

Strike Still Possible

Leaders of the two unions emphasize that the strike is merely postponed, not called off, pending the board's decision, which is not binding.

The carriers have stated that their rules case applies to all five operating Brotherhoods.

Number one rule change sought by the two unions is a 25 per cent increase in the basic daily wage rate, with $2.50 as the minimum figure.

The other 44 encompass a multitude of subjects—standardization of the pay rates among various sections of the country; overtime; night differential: Sunday and holiday scales; rates for delays at point of departure, en route or at crews, length of trains; office terminals; composition of train space for passenger conductors; assignment of duties and sick leave.

draft question by a senate-house committee.

Some members of the senate military committee mentioned the six-week extension, saying privately they thought it would give the army enough men, taken with volunteers, to meet its interim needs.

The July 1 date would permit the induction of youths presently deferred to finish the current school term and would provide time for congress to transfer job right provisions of the selective service act to some other government agency.

The senators didn't mention it, but the July date also would wipe out the draft before the congressional election campaigns get really hot.

Mrs. Claude White and Don Winslow were guest soloists at the morning and evening services respectively at Forst Methodist Church on Sunday.

ing there is work for him. While the base pay is $1 an hour for seven hours, he receives time and one half for one hour representing a 15-minute lunch period and 45 minutes underground travel time. The ninth hour daily also is paid for at time and one-half.

Disagree With Lewis.

Opening their case against Lewis' demands for wage increases and other benefits for 400,000 coal miners, two representatives of the coal operators flatly disagreed with the claims the chief of the United Mine Workers has made thus far in the coal wage conference.

Harry M. Moses, a member of the operators' negotiating committee, speaking for captive mines owned by steel companies, declared:

"We deny your accusations, and on this record charge you with having attempted deliberately to create by understandable design a false case upon which to rest your royalty or welfare demand upon this conference."

Lewis last week emphasized demands that the industry set up a miners' health and welfare fund. Pressing this, he soft-pedaled his general proposal for increased wages and a shorter work week.

Records Said "Distorted."

Moses said that the special welfare and hospitalization committee of the United Mine Workers, which reported last week on a survey of the industry, had made an "ex parte report" designed to "distort the records."

The UMW committee accused the industry of neglect and failure to enforce safety precautions and of causing the deaths of 28,000 miners and the injury of more than one million others in mine accidents in the last 14 years.

In many instances, Moses continued, fatal mine accidents resulted from "undisciplined and many times deliberate disregard" for management safety rules and regulations.

New Working Contract.

Summarizing the economic factors involved, O'Neill urged that the UMW complete a new working contract with a "minimum of friction and no work stoppage."

O'Neill, a former miner and former UMW member, criticized what he said was government interference in labor-management relations in the industry.

Further, he said, the recent action of one government agency "conceivably may cause another nationwide strike."

Although he did not designate the agency it was indicated that he referred to a recent decision of the National Labor Relations Board that unionization of coal mine supervisory employees was permissible under the Wagner Act.

The mine owners called a long weekend recess in the six-day old wage conferences to draft their reply to the United Mine Workers' nine generalized contract proposals as well as Lewis's accusations that they were responsible for deaths and injuries resulting from mine hazards.

"Health Fund" Demanded.

Lewis devoted all of last week to his case in support of a health and welfare fund, improved safety and compensation provisions, and a shorter work week at higher pay rates. He also is asking for "adjustment of the controversy" over unionization of foremen, which brought on a strike last October.

When the operators' response is completed and Lewis has had a chance to make his rebuttal, the wage conference will be recessed to permit the negotiating committee of seven miners and seven operators to work behind closed doors.

Only two weeks remain in which to bargain out a new contract. The present one will expire at midnight, Sunday, March 31, and Lewis has given notice under the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes Act of a possible strike April 1.

Lehman acknowledged that "despite vigorous efforts by the administration, it has not been possible" to keep out of UNRRA's camps for political refugees, many, who, it is believed, may be collaborators."

To Be Ended Soon.

Lehman declared emphatically that it was "imperative" that the combined food board "should be widened immediately" to develop quickly "a central body for dealing on a truly international basis."

The United States served firm notice on delegates that it did not contemplate that UNRRA should continue beyond the end of the year in Europe and the middle of 1947 in Asia.

In a formal statement issued by United States Acting Delegate Tyler Wood the state department flatly declared that "of course, no one has ever contended that UNRRA alone could solve all the economic ills of a postwar world or that large scale programs of relief could be continued indefinitely."

Then it added:

"Our expectation has been that with the funds now pledged to UNRRA by the contributing governments, the receiving countries would find it possible by the maximum development and use of their own resources, and with the assistance of the international fund and bank which have just been organized, to carry on without further UNRRA aid."

Under the guidance of Thomas Hunter, this second oldest college in the United States for women opened with four professors and Superintendent Lydia Fardleigh. SPECTATORS GIVEN THRILL BY TIGERS FRIDAY AFTERNON

SQUAD DIVIDED FOR BLUE AND GOLD GAME NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

By GROVER HEIMAN
Sun Sports Staff.

A fine turnout of supporters Friday afternoon was treated to a sneak preview of the coming Blue and Gold game March 22 by the spring training football Tigers who rounded the third week mark in the practice period.

Shifting backfields and lines constantly, Boyd Payne ran the squad in a hard scrimmage that brought a bucket full of thrills. Fast, shifty June Clark, a lad that thinks and runs at the same time, broke loose often to scamper through the opposition for touchdowns. Bill Reed on the throwing end and Dan McLeod as the retriever, marked a potent passing combination. McLeod is a glue-fingered wingman that will be a threat as long as he stands on his feet.

Reed broke loose for scampers at intervals and baffled the other eleven with his split second timing. The small ball-toter runs low on the ground with his hips mowing grass all the time. Bill Davis knifed through the line for considerable gains, although he devotes most of his attention to operating the T offensive. Kelly Burkhart rammed the line well and once in the secondary adopted scatback tactics to threaten the goal line.

Backfield Performers.

In the other backfield, Gerald Bowen showed class in the aerial heaving department. Truman Howell, a newcomer to the squad this year, gave a good performance, as did Verdie Cook. Noble Davis masterminded that foursome. Herman Barr turned in a fine job at end, snagging heaves from Bowen after seemingly being smothered by defensive back, Reed and Clark.

Seeing service in the lines were Hal Murphy and Bill Sharpley at ends, Milt Spurgeon, Benton Crawford, Charles Bittner, Benny Poarch, Massey and Autry Green at tackles; Joe Bob Dixon, Jimmy Nash, Jim Cavender, John King Delbert Dillard and Jackie Rea at guards, and Toppy Watson, Wendell Cummings, Bob Douglas at centers. Other members of the squad broke into the lineup for scrimmage sessions with nearly the entire roster being used.

Ignoring their big brothers, the B squad under Otis Pederson and Bill Hay ran a scrimmage of their own on the north practice area.

Alternating with praise when due and criticism when needed, Payne ringmastered the show until nearly dusk, at which time he divided the squad for the coming finale, the Blue and Gold game, which will be played at Tiger Field March 22, at 7:30 p. m. Tickets have gone on sale at McAdams Pharmacy, Spurgeon's Laundry and Dry Cleanng, and P and E. Pharmacy. Prices are 60 cents for adults and 30 cents for students.

Fundamentals Stressed.

Far from satoisfied with the downfield blocking and work in the line, the coming and final week, will see the coaching staff bearing down harder than ever on the fundamentals Long gains accounted for in the scrimmage session Friday were due entirely to the antics of the ball carrier, since once past the line, he was entirely on his own.

Exceptions were when Nobie Davis gave the supporters a thrill late in the scrimmage when he broke through the line and then calmly shifted back and forth waiting for blockers, who cleared a path to the goal.

Toppy Watson intercepted a pass and galloped for a score with the aid of Dan McLeod and Bill Davis, who cleared out the secondary in another thriller.

New York Cotton Table

NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)—Cotton futures moved higher today on mill buying and New Orleans demand which readily absorbed persistent hedge selling against purchases of government cotton. Gains of 65 cents a bale were registered although the market subsequently eased off partially on trade offerings. The bureau of census reported February cotton consumption at 740,904 bales or slightly lower than trade expectations.

Opposition to the Pace parity bill from Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was overshadowed by the meetings of exchange representatitives with price officials on higher margins.

Indications of growing congressional opposition to the administration's pricing policies on cotton rallied the market into new high ground for the day in the final hour as mills and New Orleans buying met a scarcity of offerings.

Futures closed 60 to 80 cents a bale higher.

Texas Dogwood Trails To Be Re-Opened At Palestine This Year

PALESTINE, Texas, March 15—(Spl)—Texas Dogwood Trails, famed free flower trails here that attracted throngs to Palestine annually until the war forced suspension of the event, will reopen March 24, sponsors announced today.

Over a mile of new woodland trails have been built to take visitors to previously inaccessible hills covered with Dogwood. The route out of Palestine will be marked for visitors through nearly four miles of Dogwood-studded timber, terminating at Meadowbrook Country Club where visitors will be welcome throughout the two weeks Dogwood will be in bloom.

Visitors will drive their own automobiles over the scenic woodland route. M. A. Davey, Jr., president of the Trails Association, said the route this year will take visitors to better scenery and more Dogwood than crowds of as many as 80,000 saw in pre-war years.

PATTY COLLINS HORTON-BILLARD AND ALVIS HARWELL TAKE VOWS AT HOME OF BRIDE'S PARENTS

The marriage of Patty Collins Horton-Billard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Collins, to Alvis Jackson Harwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Harwell, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock with Rev. J. I. Cartlidge as the officiant.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of formal greenery and gleaming white cathedral tapers in floor candelabra. Frank Wright lighted the tapers and assisted in receiving the guests, which included members of the immediate families and close friends.

The bride was attired in a beige wool tailleur with black accessories and carried a white prayerbook topped with an orchid and showered with shattered white carnations and diminutive satin ribbons.

Mrs. T. B. Kirkham, Jr., the bride's only attendant, wore a navy suit with matching accessories and carried a French bouquet of sweetpeas, iris and pink carnations tied with pink satin ribbons. Rayford Harwell of Fort Worth served as his brother's best man.

Informal Reception.

An informal reception followed the ceremony. The polished surface of the bride's table reflected a center decor of calla lilies, white carnations and stock, flanked by white tapers in crystal holders Miss Beth Page had charge of the two-tiered, white wedding cake which was encircled with feathery fern and adorned with a white satin bow and lilies of the valley, and Miss Ann Smith presided at the crystal punch service. Miss Louise Butler assisted in the dining room.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Waco where the bridegroom is employed in the Finance Department of the U. S. Veterans' Administration.

Educational Background.

The bride was graduated from Corsicana High School, attended Texas State College for Women and has been employed in a secretarial capacity by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation for the past three years. The bridegroom is a graduate of Corsicana High School, attended Southern Methodist University where he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega, and returned several months ago from three and one-half years' service with the U. S. armed forces in the South Pacific.

Out-of-town guests in attendance at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Harwell and son, Wendell, of Fort Worth.

The third in a series of Fellowship Suppers will be held in the First Methodist Educational Building on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

HOUSING UNITS FOR RETURNED VETERANS ARE BEING PLANNED

CALHOUN ANNOUNCES CORSICANA FIELD FACILITIES CAN BE USED

By KATHERYN PATE
Daily Sun Staff

All buildings at Air Activities Field, exclusive of the hangars, may be converted into housing units for veterans of World War II, Mayor John C. Calhoun announced Friday morning.

The Federal Project Housing Authority recommended this disposition of the property to the Washington offices Thursday, Mayor Calhoun said.

Housing problems facing Corsicana veterans seemed to be solved by this latest development involving the Air Activities Field. Earlier in the week, the Defense Plant Corporation revealed that the field had been turned over to the city for operation pending determination of its permanent future use.

Apartments For Vets

It is estimated that 40 or 50 apartments will be available to veterans at a reasonable rental basis, to be determined by the city and approved by the Federal Project Housing Authority, Mayor Calhoun said.

"This is a conservative estimate and even more units may be available," he commented.

Money to convert the barracks into livable quarters is available in an appropriation voted by the House Thursday. The bill authorizes appropriation of $250,000,000 to provide at least 100,000 temporary housing units for war veterans and their families.

Hangar Promised

Already promised one hangar for use as a municipal airport, the city also will be given the other three hangars provided it can show a need for them in its municipal operations "or for any other aeronautical activity, such as airplane manufacture, airplane storage or airplane sales," Mayor Calhoun said.

An interim permit will be granted within the next 10 days for the city to use the field jointly with the War Assets Corporation, until that agency can move or dispose of federal property stored there.

It is thought this joint operation can be eliminated within 60 days and the field will be turned over to the city for its exclusive use, the Mayor stated.

Air Passenger Service

Texas Air Lines, which has scheduled regular air passenger service to Corsicana between Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston, can begin local operations when the interim permit is officially granted. An application for air mail service has been made with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, and if this is granted Corsicana will get both passenger and mail service at the same time.

The city will administrate and sponsor the housing project at Air Activities Field and all revenues above expenses of operation will revert to the federal government. After a five-year period, the property would be given to the city.

"The Federal Project Housing Authority will administrate the appropriation voted by the House Thursday," Mayor Calhoun said, "And if we can justify additional housing units Corsicana will be entitled to additional consideration. However, the present housing project will be charged off to the city's share of the $250,000,000 appropriation."

Mayor Calhoun has been in Dallas and Fort Worth several days this week and representatives of the three government agencies involved in the transaction—War Assets Corporation, Dallas, and Civil Aeronautics Authority and Federal Project Housing both of Fort Worth—have been in Corsicana to inspect the Air Activities Field.

Seventeen Buildings

An inventory released by the Defense Plant Corporation soon after the Air Activities School was closed revealed that 17 buildings, totaling 224,272 square feet, comprised the physical plant.

These included two hangars, 45,000 square feet each and two hangars, 25,500 square feet; five barracks, 8,000 square feet each and one barrack, 9,760 square feet; seven lesser buildings which included linen building 1,200 square feet; administration building, 7,200 square feet; classroom, 3,600 square feet; kitchen stores, 1,980 square feet; grease house, 1,400 square feet; hospital, 2,940 square feet; mess hall, kitchen and recreation building combined, 15,192 square feet.

Air Activities Field was used for primary training of pilots of the United States Army Air Corps.

NOMINATION OF MAN FOR "PAULEY" JOB MAY BE MERGER TIP

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Capitol Hill waited today for President Truman's second choice of an under secretary of the navy as a possible new tip on unification of the armed forces.

The reasoning of the lawmakers is that if Mr. Truman picks a man who is strong for the proposed merger, it will be a signal for the navy to drop its continuing opposition to the single service plan.

Behind this is the fact that almost everyone on capitol hill expects the new appointee to step soon into the shoes of Secretary Forrestal, a mainspring in the navy-supported fight to keep the merger from materializing.

Merger Is Favored.

Mr. Truman told congress on Dec. 8, 1945, that he wants legislation "combining the war and navy departments into one single department of national defense." His intent seemed clear at the time, but congress has seen a lot of water flow under the bridge since then, and some members are wondering about his present attitude.

The tides of conflict between the merger-minded army and the reluctant navy have been so strong that a senate military subcommittee hasn't been able in six weeks of trying to produce a bill it can agree upon.

It reportedly had considered everything from the one cabinet member that Mr. Truman recommended in December, to the four secretaries proposed in some quarters. Under the latter plan, there would be cabinet officers for army, navy, air and civilian production.

CIO Officials Urge Closer Cooperation Between U. S., Reds

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—A group of CIO officials came back from a trip to Russia determined to promote closer cooperation between Russian and American workers "for enduring peace and world prosperity and progress."

In a report submitted to the CIO executive board over the weekend the visiting Americans also reported that:

1. They were deeply impressed by "the eagerness of all Soviet citizens we met to demonstrate their respect and friendship toward American labor and the American people."

2. They were impressed by the "excellent activities" of Soviet trade unions and found parallels with American unions.

Living Standards Low.

3. They found that while Russian living standards are "low compared with American standards," the people are determined to raise their lot by increasing production.

4. They urged that the United States help Russia do this by sending machines, industrial techniques and goods.

The CIO men visited Russia for eight days last October. They were guests of the Soviet trade unions. Leader of the group was James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer. The others were Allan S. Haywood, Joseph Curran, Albert Fitzgerald, John Green, Emil Rieve, Reid Robinson, Lee Pressman, John Abt, Len De Caux, and Vincent Sweeney.

FRENCH WAR BRIDE REUNITED WITH SOLDIER HUSBAND HERE MONDAY; WILL LIVE AT DONIE

By KATHERYN PATE
Daily Sun Staff.

A reunion of a Donie, Texas, farm lad and his little 19-year old brunette bride from Paris, France, had the passengers and crew members of the 12:23 train all agog at the Cotton Belt station today at noon.

Sgt. and Mrs. Clovis L. Collins, who fell into each other's arms and kissed happily, were the center of attention. Old women fluttered in the train windows, while conductors dashed around to help with the luggage. A couple of cameras snapped, and two young girls looked on and giggled.

Jackie Collins, who had just arrived from Paris, by way of New York and points in between, smiled up into her husband's face.

"Oh, Billy. I am so nappee!"

Sgt. Clovis L. Collins, whose Clovis somehow became a Billy many years ago, was happy, too. He had paced the station platform and cracked his knuckles several minutes before the train puffed in.

To Visit Parents.

This afternoon they were to visit Billy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Harris of Mexia, before going on to Donie for a more extended visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Collins, farmers in that community.

Mrs. John T. Moore of near Athens, aunt of the bridegroom, was the third member of the party and served as chauffeur on the afternoon's jaunt. "I just couldn't wait to see Jackie," she said.

There are two or three things Jackie just can't wait to see.

"First, my new mother and father, I want to see them," she exclaimed in her English flavored with a French accent. 'And then the shopping comes. Shoes—spike heel sandals—and hose if I can find them."

Nylons Promised.

"I have a pair of nylons for you," Billy whispered.

"Oh, how wonderful," said his bride, "I have heard of nylons, but I never do see them."

Jackie was too happy to be tired, although her journey to the United States began last February 28, when she sailed aboard the George Goethal. She arrived in New York March 14, and began the final phase of her jaunt March 16.

Billy has no plans for their future. He rather favors a "vacation for about the next six months, and after that I don't know." A 1939 graduate of Donie High school, he was an apprentice carpenter before he entered the service August 22, 1942.

Discharged From Service.

Billy beat his wife back to the States by only a few days. He arrived early this month from Paris, and received his discharge March 8 at Camp Chaffey, Ark.

Jacqueline Claude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Claude of Paris, was serving as secretary and interpreter at a Red Cross club in Paris, when her future husband wandered in last August.

"It was almost love at first sight," he confided. "But we waited until November to be sure."

They were married Nov. 27, 1945, and were together until Billy left for Le Havre February 20. Theirs was a short separation.

He was overseas almost 28 months, serving with the Eighth Air Force, Ninth Army and Headquarters Seine Base Section, Paris.

Celebration Planned.

There'll probably be a cork or two popping in the Collins home tonight on this very special occasion. Jackie brought her new parents-in-law some French champagne, and for Mr. Collins there are several neckties in shades of blue.

Jackie who left a brother and sister behind, in addition to her mother and father, won't be too homesick, because she is "too happee to be here."

State Home school calves won fourth and fifth place prizes in the Angus and Shorthorn divisions at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and Livestock Exposition, according to an announcement by Moyne Kelly, superintendent.

The Angus entry, handled by John Erzen, placed fourth in its class and the Shorthorn, handled by Beverly Belschner, took fifth place honors in that division. The Hereford entry, shown by Charles Murdock, failed to win an award, however, it remained in competition until the final day. The delegation was under the direction of D. B. Osburn, vocational teacher.

Child Hurt in Fall.

Wayne Gilmore, one-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gilmore, Streetman, received treatment at the P. and S. Hospital Saturday night for lacerations over an eye. The youngster was reported to have fallen from a chair at the family home. After the wound was treated the child was dismissed.

Mesdames Emmett Lawhon and Frank Kimball of Athens visited in the home of Mesdames W. M. Forester, Travis Knight and Hylan Davis on Saturday afternoon.
